The Medina County Soil and Water Conservation District is a legal entity of the State of Ohio that was established by the General Assembly of Ohio in 1944 by Act 101. It is recognized by the USDA National Conservation Service Groups, the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, and other county agencies.

The District works cooperatively with other county agencies, local townships, and residents of Medina County. The District meets public involvement proponents within the county. It educates local government officials and assists the Director by offering educational assistance to educational systems and waterways throughout the county. The County Commission’s seat is filled by election, and the District provides advisory and consulting assistance to anyone in the County planning or developing property information, home building and construction. The District provides educational assistance and educational programs and materials to students, teachers, and community organizations.
